Janet Johnson Elected to the Executive Committee of the National Conference of Appellate Court Clerks

Janet Johnson, Clerk of Court of the Arizona Supreme Court, was elected to the Executive Committee of the National Conference of Appellate Court Clerks at the organization's recent annual meeting in Denver, Colorado.

Janet Johnson was appointed Clerk of Court of the Arizona Supreme Court in 2012. Previously, she served as the Director of the Court Services Division of the Arizona Administrative Office of the Courts for twelve years and, prior to arriving in Arizona, as the Assistant Director of the Court Services Division at the Missouri Administrative Office of the Courts. Ms. Johnson holds a master's degree in Social Work from the University of Missouri-Columbia, with an emphasis in planning and administration, and is a Fellow of the Institute for Court Management. She has been a member of the NCACC since 2012 and has served on the Public Relations, Site Selection, and Strategic Planning Committees of the NCACC.

The National Conference of Appellate Court Clerks was established in 1973 with the objectives of improving the skills and knowledge of its members, promoting effective court administration, providing a forum for the exchange of ideas, and maintaining facilities for the dissemination of information concerning appellate court operations. Its membership is comprised of state, federal, and military appellate and Supreme Court clerks from the United States, District of Columbia, territories and possessions of the United States, and tribal appellate courts.

Jakob Trierweiler Elected to the Executive Committee of the National Conference of Appellate Court Clerks

Jakob Trierweiler, Operations Manager of the Arizona Court of Appeals, Division One, was elected to the Executive Committee of the National Conference of Appellate Court Clerks at the organization's recent annual meeting in Denver, Colorado.

Jakob Trierweiler began his employment with the Court of Appeals in 2007, after having worked at an appeals court in Grand Rapids, Michigan. He became the Operations Manager of the Court of Appeals in 2009. In that capacity, Mr. Trierweiler works with Amy M. Wood, Clerk of the Court, to supervise the Clerk's Office and to provide correct information and assistance to the Court's sixteen judges. He has been a member of the NCACC since 2012 and has served on the Scholarship and Public Relations Committees of the NCACC.

The National Conference of Appellate Court Clerks was established in 1973 with the objectives of improving the skills and knowledge of its members, promoting effective court administration, providing a forum for the exchange of ideas, and maintaining facilities for the dissemination of information concerning appellate court operations.
