CJC-08-061

March 8, 2008

The judge in the last dependency case disregarded my rights as as the father and gave my children to the mother after knowing that the mother was a known liar and I myself told her that. stated that the mother and grandmother were telling the boys everything that was going on in court and after the judge told everybody not to talk about the case in front of the boys. When asked where he heard it from he looked at and said he heard it around the house.

The next day I went into court and told the judge what was said and she didn't do anything about it. Now we are back in dependency court again and my ex-wife is back on the drugs again.

What has to happen before my sons are dead? So here we go again with another case.
