ORDER

The complainant alleged a justice of the peace improperly denied her the right of self-representation and engaged in improper demeanor.

The purpose and authority of the commission is limited to this mission.

The commission does not have jurisdiction to review the legal sufficiency of the judge's rulings. In addition, the commission found no evidence of ethical misconduct and concluded that the judge did not violate the Code in this case. Accordingly, the complaint is dismissed in its entirety, pursuant to Rules 16(a) and 23(a).

Commission members George H. Foster, Jr., Anna Mary Glaab and Art Hinshaw did not participate in the consideration of this matter.

On my first appearance, I informed judge representation, he then aggressively stated that, "

that I would like to represent myself and did not want

" He put me down in public and then proceeded to state to the rest of the people in the court room that if they were to try to do such thing that it would be stupid and used me as an example. I have the constitutional right to represent myself and if he feels I am incompetent and ' then that is he opinion. But no public servant has the right to deprive the people of their God given constitutional rights. I am one of those people, and I also stated that I would like to employ the Foreign Sovereign Immunity Act and declare that as my inherited birth right as a decedent of the 13 colonies. And he did not acknowledge that as well.
It is immoral to put a person down based on status or opinion of incompetence.
I was deprived from exercising my right to self representation.
