National Association Honors Clerk of the Arizona Supreme Court

PHOENIX – Janet Johnson, Clerk of the Arizona Supreme Court, received the President’s Award for Outstanding Service from the National Conference of Appellate Court Clerks (NCACC). Johnson has served as treasurer of the organization since 2016 and chaired the Finance and Investment Committee. NCACC President Eileen Fox presented the award to Johnson at the association’s annual educational conference in San Diego, California.

“Janet Johnson is a dynamic, reliable leader who looks for opportunities to safely maximize return on our investments for the long-term health of NCACC,” said Association President and Clerk of the New Hampshire Supreme Court. “Janet is the epitome of good judgment. She is calm and thoughtful. The other members of the Executive Committee and I rely on her for advice on both financial and other governance issues facing the NCACC.”

According to its website, the National Conference of Appellate Court Clerks was organized in 1973. Representing a broad range of courts, members work in state, federal, military and tribal appellate courts as well as the Supreme Courts in the United States, District of Columbia, and in territories or possessions of the United States.
