To whom it may concern:

I am writing to inform the Commission of an incident in which I recently became involved. I apologize in advance if this seems unnecessarily detailed but I wanted to make sure the Commission is aware of the situation before it is an issue.

I was contacted last week by [redacted] an acquaintance I have from the gym. He and his wife have been involved in the triathlon community or several years, as have I. He called to discuss a traffic accident he had been in for which he received a citation. I explained that I could not discuss his case specifically but could tell him the options available. He stated that the citing officer had already explained his options and had recommended a civil compromise. I told my acquaintance that I could provide him a civil compromise form offered by the court and I subsequently did that.

About a week later I received an email that Mr. [redacted] sent to the woman he hit. The email included my name and phone number as a contact if the woman needed any information. I immediately contacted Keith Stott. In addition I sent an email to both parties in an attempt to alleviate any possible impropriety. Finally, I am sending this letter to self-report any possible appearance of impropriety. If there is any other corrective action I need to take I am more than willing to comply.

Thank you in advance for your time and attention.
